My Man Godfrey is a new musical about a zany 1930s New York socialite who enlists a homeless man to be the family butler and then falls in love with him. But who IS he, really?

Considered one of the best Screwball Comedies of all time, this musical adaptation of the 1936 film brings together Tony Award Winner Rupert Holmes (Mystery of Edwin Drood), Tony Award Winner Mark Hollmann (Urinetown) and Broadway director Matt August for a comic romp through one of Manhattan’s craziest society families.
